Memorandum of Understanding on Establishing a Friendly Cooperation Relationship Between
Sichuan Province of the People's Republic of China and The State of California of the United States of America

President of the Standing Committee of Sichuan Provincial People's Congress, Mr. Wang Dongming, led the Sichuan delegation and visited the State of California from September 23rd to September 24th, 2015. President Wang also had official talks with Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr., Governor of California, during the U.S.-China Governors Forum in Seattle, Washington on September 22nd. During their talks, they reviewed the existing exchanges between the two sides in different areas and spoke of the opportunities for fruitful economic and trade ties, as well as cultural, educational and interpersonal exchanges. Based on those exchanges, the Government of the State of California, of the United States of America, and Sichuan Provincial People's Government of P.R.C. (hereinafter referred to as the "Parties") agreed to strengthen their mutually beneficial cooperation and to establish a friendly relationship between each other, agreeing as follows:

I. Based on the principles on which the People's Republic of China and the United States of America established diplomatic relations as well as in accordance with the laws and regulations of both countries, both Parties agree to strengthen the friendly exchange and cooperation based on equality, mutual respect, mutual trust, and mutual benefit.

II. Both Parties believe that the establishment of direct flights between Chengdu, the capital of Sichuan Province, and San Francisco, provides easier access to the cooperation and exchange between Sichuan and California. Both Parties will proactively encourage the cities over which they have jurisdiction to carry out friendly exchanges with each other so as to build cooperative relationships in various areas. Both Parties will also strive for a stronger economic relationship between each other, focusing on the cooperation between enterprises, especially between small and medium enterprises (SMEs), and will encourage more direct investment.

III. Both Parties believe that Sichuan and California have complementary competitive advantages in the fields of agriculture, information technology, bio-pharmaceuticals, clean energy, environmental protection, professional services, and international trade. Both Parties agree to promote and strengthen the cooperation in the above areas and establish a more sustainable cooperative economic relationship.

IV. Both Parties agree that the existing cooperation and exchange on education, tourism and culture is an important part of the relationship and friendship between Sichuan and California. Both Parties agree to explore new ways to enhance the cooperation so as to further strengthen the understanding and friendship of our two peoples.

V. In order to promote and strengthen cooperation in the above areas, both parties recognize the important role of private sector initiatives such as the establishment of the planned California Center in Sichuan Tianfu New Area in 2016, in helping to facilitate private sector investment and trade from California to Sichuan. Both parties recognize that private sector initiatives can provide the framework to facilitate bilateral cooperation and exchange in a range of areas, including the fields of agriculture (agricultural trade, agricultural and food products processing, cultivation technologies), culture (theme parks, professional services, education, tourism), medical care (high-end bio-pharmaceuticals, friendship hospitals, research, development and production of medical devices, healthy nursing for seniors, modern management of hospitals), and smart cities (information communication technologies, clean energy, research, development and production of zero emission vehicles). Sichuan intends to establish a Sichuan Center in California in due course, as a way to encourage and facilitate the setting up of Sichuan business interests and companies in California.

VI. Both Parties designate their relevant authorities, namely the California Environmental Protection Administration and the Sichuan Provincial Development and Reform Commission to explore cooperation on the topics of climate change and low carbon development, including the following:

- 1) According to their respective situation and circumstances, both Parties will take active measures to reduce energy consumption;
- 2) The Parties will work together on low carbon/smart cities planning and cooperate with each other to reduce urban greenhouse gas emissions;
- 3) The Parties will promote the growth of the two jurisdictions' low carbon economies, so as to strengthen local companies' competitiveness and create job opportunities;
- 4) The Parties will encourage cooperation on and application of low carbon technologies;
- 5) This MOU may include other additional areas of cooperation as agreed upon by the Parties.

VII. Both Parties agree to conduct regular communication between government leaders and relevant departments to exchange opinions about cooperation and other shared concerns, and to work together to constantly broaden the scope of cooperation to the mutual benefit and economic development of each Party. On the basis of a fruitful friendly exchange and cooperation, both Parties agree to cooperate in establishing an official Sister Province-State relationship in 2016.

VIII. This MOU is not an enforceable contract or treaty and therefore, does not provide the Parties or any third parties with any legal rights, nor does it incur legal obligations on the Parties or any third parties. This MOU shall come into force from the date of signature. It will be valid for three years. Upon expiration, it may remain in force if both Parties agree.

To fully implement this MOU, both Parties agree to retain the Governor's Office of the State of California and the Department of Foreign and Overseas Chinese Affairs of Sichuan Provincial People's Government as the points of contact to exchange information and facilitate collaboration between the Parties under this MOU.

This MOU is done in duplicate in the English and Chinese languages, both texts being equally authentic.
